Greensboro is a southern city with all the regional flavors you might expect, but we're also a collegiate city and the home of diverse international cultures. Our wide range of traditions has developed a robust and nationally recognized food and drink scene from burger joints, craft breweries, global cuisine to white linen restaurants.

Greensboro has venues that range from dive bars to concert halls, so we get major touring companies and artists. We're a hub for regional independent music and theater. We've also got renowned galleries and museums all of which combine for an eclectic art and culture landscape.

The city boasts many parks, trails, lakes and greenways for pedestrians and cyclists. So grab a basket of goodies to watch a free movie or musical performance in one of our local parks, throw on some gear and take a hike on a lush trail or get ready to kayak on a sunny day because Greensboro's a beautiful place to experience the outdoors.

Shopping in Greensboro is as distinct as the population. You can purchase handmade goods directly from the local craftsmen, shake it up with regional brands and find your favorite major chains. From large malls and historic theaters to science museums and pocket shopping districts, Greensboro's got the goods.

WE'LL OPEN DOORS

synerG offers multiple ways for young professionals to engage with Greensboro. synerG promotes inclusiveness with individuals and organizations and regularly collaborates with other nonprofits and businesses to strengthen connections and impact. From attending synerG On Taps or Lunch & Learns, to taking on a leadership role in the Council or a committee, we've got a place for you.
